learned ‘seat of the pants’ style!”

“Knowing: is a range of understanding a subject/ object.

Discerning: is fully understanding the answer to the question--- at this point in time, what is the appropriate relationship to have with that subject/ object.”

A FEW EXCERPTS FROM THE BOOK:

P.63- “What does one do when one is hemmed in all around and finds oneself engulfed in what seems to one’s heart and mind to be a sacrilege?”

P. 85- “Discernment also includes a not-limiting of God’s means of Providence. So often we expect God’s Providence to come in the manner that we expect—the direct way. Open-mindedness is the key.”

P. 116- “I thought this group of monks was protected from getting uppity, or changing. Daily, they got grungy. They got hot and sweaty. They were busy with their work... They started the day with a marathon Matins, Lauds, private Masses which took from 5 AM to about 7:30 AM, then there was a short break, and they had Prime at 8 AM.”

P. 124- “When you bring up a big subject—a tornado is headed this way—you expect a little attention to be given to the subject. When it’s not given, it’s just weird.”

MISSION STATEMENT:

Our mission is to be a catalyst for renewal in the Catholic tradition, following the saints' examples of embracing authentic Catholic lifestyles to serve the common good with a more thoughtful and self-giving stewardship, and the Church, through a more fervent participation in its sacramental, sacrificial life.

Hampered by the mixed motives of man's sinful nature, through cooperating with God's grace in an ongoing transformation, we hope and trust to be more and more inspired and impelled by His love.

Our activities focus on mass media communications and workshops; pilot programs and training centers for non-traditional schools; and, future, long-term solutions to housing and transportation.
