

What kind of program is this? It is an arts integrated with physical education multi-dimensional learning program. It is a program designed for any group of students(ages 5-15 years old), AND SUMMER CAMPS, AFTERCARE OR REMEDIAL PROGRAMS, RECREATION CENTERS, CHURCH GROUPS, HOMESCHOOL GROUPS, etc. This is a research-based arts integration program and has been tested in 3 pilot programs over 2 settings— private parochial and a public community center.

How does it work: This approach builds a unique platform for balanced growth through intellectual, emotional, social, and physical grounding and functioning. By using physical activities combined with arts and crafts, music, dance, and theatre, we activate the base from which all learning arises. The Learning Pod, a more traditional learning setting, combines teacher-assisted student work with more student independent, self-monitored work. By increasing technology skills and using computer-assisted learning, students become more responsible for their own learning. If the Arts & Motion Program is used as a Summer Program or Afterschool Program, or as a remedial care program such as Title I, the Learning Pod could be used for review work. This program is also a useful enrichment program for Gifted and Talented students.

It is also one of our objectives that our students and families adopt good nutrition, healthy eating habits, and physical activity for sustaining healthy weights, preventing obesity, and reducing risk factors for obesity-related chronic diseases.

THE ARTS & MOTION PROGRAM- SUMMER, 2012

Who is Dr. Beeman? Dr. Beeman is an educator with over 45 years' experience as a classroom teacher, Administrator, and Specialist with LD/ED children and adults; public service in mental health as a crisis intervention specialist; an artist/art therapist with an M. A. from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.; a poet and writer. In May, 2009, Carol Ann Beeman was awarded the Ed.D. from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. Her research was a validation study of the use of an art therapy assessment as a screening tool for early detection of learning problems in grades K-2: Using an Art Therapy Assessment to Screen for Barriers to Learning in the Primary Grades. Two Catholic schools and a public school were used as research sites in the study. St. Therese Missionary Society is dedicated to helping build educational excellence and service to poor and underserved students and families. In doing so, we take a comprehensive approach to helping innovative programs succeed. Therefore, this program is one example of the many areas we are seeking to create and to maintain long-term sources of gift revenue, donations, grants, and ongoing financial support for worthwhile projects.

Legal Entity: St. Therese Missionary Society is incorporated in Arkansas as a nonprofit organization under the IRS 501(c)(3) designation as a religious non-profit. HOME OFFICE IS LOCATED IN SEARCY COUNTY, ARKANSAS.
